America's Fastest Growing Cable News Network to Partner with Decision Desk HQ to call Races in Real Time Throughout the Evening

CHICAGO (November 1, 2022) – NewsNation, Nexstar Media Group, Inc.'s (NASDAQ: NXST) national cable news network, today announced that its election day coverage will be co-hosted by veteran election anchors Chris Cuomo and Leland Vittert.

Broadcasting from its headquarters in Chicago, and telecast to 70 million television households and streamed throughout the country, America's fastest growing cable news network's election night coverage will begin at 6pm ET/5pm CT with live continuous reporting until 3am ET/2am CT.

In order to provide the most up to date election results and race calls, NewsNation has partnered with Decision Desk HQ to provide independent analysis and race projections for the 2022 Elections.

For the first time, Decision Desk HQ, led by their head of Data Science, Scott Tranter will be setting up their independent race call center on-site in NewsNation's studio in Chicago. It's a rare behind-the-scenes look at the race call operation. Tranter and his team will be providing on-air insights throughout the night about how the night's most important race calls are made.

In 2020, Decision Desk HQ, one of only three organizations nationally to collect and provide election results to news organizations, was the first to call the election for Joe Biden as the 46th president of the United States.

“We are excited to bring viewers the most comprehensive coverage of election night anywhere, as our team anchors the newscast from the heartland of America,” said Michael Corn, President of News at NewsNation. “After providing exclusive national coverage of candidate debates in Georgia, Texas, and Pennsylvania, NewsNation is preparing to deliver election night results with a level of transparency and detail never before seen on TV.”

The Hill’s associate editor, Niall Stannage, will be on location in Chicago along with Morgan Ortagus, former spokesperson for the U.S. Department of State. Providing commentary from their Washington D.C. bureau will be The Hill’s editor in chief Bob Cusack and correspondent Julia Manchester.

NewsNation’s Washington Bureau Chief Mike Viqueira will be reporting live from the White House with additional coverage in the nation’s capital from correspondent Tom Dempsey. NewsNation’s National Correspondent Kaleigh Beeson will report on ballot initiatives across the country.

NewsNation also will harness the power of thousands of Nexstar local journalists in cities across the country to deliver the very best on the ground coverage of the most important races.

NewsNation’s Election Night reporters include:

- Pennsylvania: Washington Correspondent Kellie Meyer and National Correspondent Dray Clark
- Georgia: Sr. National Correspondent Brian Entin and Southeast Correspondent Brooke Shafer
- Arizona: Border correspondents Robert Sherman and Ali Bradley
- Florida: Southeast Correspondent Xavier Walton
- Ohio: Washington Correspondent Joe Khalil
- Texas: Southwest Correspondent Markie Martin
- Nevada: West Coast Correspondent Nancy Loo

Decision Desk HQ, the leading provider of non-partisan U.S. and international election results and related data, provides state by state results data and serves as the NewsNation ‘Decision Desk’ for all senate, house and statewide primary and general election races.

The network will have reporters situated in key battleground states along with the support of Nexstar’s local television stations that have been on the ground of the campaign from the beginning.
